

Can you provide more details about the restaurant, such as its name, location, and type of cuisine?

Name: Best Wood - 柏梧美式果木烤肉

Location: Changsha City, Hunan Province, China

Cuisine: American-style smokehouse barbecue

(please check the location & details & menu at the 6th page)

• How long has the restaurant been in operation?

The restaurant started beta-testing (试营业) since June 2022 and officially opened in Dec 2022 right after the COVID restriction was lifted, and I joined in Q1 2023 after the FTX debacle. By then, the business was booming, and I personally love this type of cuisine too, so I chipped in and became a partner (1/3 of the stake)

• Can you share any recent financial statements or performance reports for the restaurant?

Current Situation:

- What specific issues has the restaurant been facing since Q1 2024?

Declining revenue. The revenue is dropping compare to 2023 YoY. In 2023, it usually did around ~300k RMB (~41,470 USD) on a monthly basis. But in 2024 so far, that average monthly number has dropped to around ~200k RMB (~27,646 USD), that's a 33% decline.

We think the reason is in 2023, we had food bloggers (美食博主, 网红) visiting the location (some of them are really famous) and it made the restaurant kind of hot and trending in the city (because it's an authentic American-style smokehouse, kind of new and unique in the town). That local-trending drove the initial traffic in 2023.

Since we had so much traffic, we quickly found ourselves short of hands and equipments to handle the traffic, so we needed to expand the capacity. We used the restaurant as the collateral for a business loan for 1M RMB (~138,232 USD). The loan was mainly used to open another branch for cooking/kitchen/warehouse/storage. Because the main location is in the downtown area so it has limited capacity for cooking/storage and we got complained by neighbors for the cooking process (yea, with smoke & smells, it's a smokehouse after all).

So now the problem is, with declining revenue, after deduct the cost, I am having problems to pay off the monthly loan payment as well as cost of living.

- How significant is the liability under your name, and how was it accrued?

The main liability is my stake in the smokehouse as associated with the loan amount. I have 1/3 in it, so that makes it 333,333 RMB (~46,077 USD), plus an 4.5% APR interest for 3 years (378,333 RMB / ~52,298 USD for each).

- What steps have been taken to address the downturn in the restaurant's performance?

- Update menu every few months. Mainly:
 - Remove unpopular dishes from the previous menu
 - Enhanced varieties for the popular dishes (more selections, different sizes for different prices)
 - The chef would add new dishes if she sees fit (she likes to try/invent new dishes), and then evaluate how the new dishes doing on a monthly basis

- Cost adjustment:
 - Had a deal with the local suppliers and it reduced the meat price by 10% if we buy in bulks (since we now have a new location to store raw meats/ other materials in bulks)
 - Switched some employees' schedules from full-time to part-time when the traffic is light. Now we have 2 people working in kitchen plus 2 staff for weekdays, and 3 in kitchen plus 3 staff for weekends.
 - We found Tuesday has the lowest traffic on average, so we moved the off day from Monday to Tuesday

We are seeing upticks for popular dishes, so we adjusted the cooking schedule accordingly. We make sure to have enough stock for the popular dishes at anytime. Btw, we are still the top-rated American-style smokehouse in the town though, so we are thinking about working with food bloggers to promote the restaurant's visibility, but this is a delicate balance (traffic vs capacity) we need to figure out (like if you got mad traffic but couldn't handle it properly, it's actually bad for the reputation).

The restaurant is the main liability that needs cash right now?

Yes, and more specifically, the restaurant's loan payment is the main liability. I want to stay in the business because I love the food (that's why I joined at the first place). But right now, all my money is in this restaurant business. My hands are tied AF and struggling, and that's why I'm asking for help.
